

In Brief, and to the Point.
Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered stomach is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Fatty food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember! No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents. (COW)

Worth Knowing.

Mr. W. H. Morgan, merchant, Lake City, Fla., was taken with a severe cold, attended with a distressing cough and running into consumption in its first stage. He tried many so-called popular cough remedies and steadily grew worse. Was reduced in flesh, had difficulty in breathing, was unable to sleep. Finally tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and found immediate relief, and after using a half-dozen bottles, found himself well and had no return of the disease. No other remedy can show so grand a record of cures as Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Guaranteed to do just what is claimed for it. Trial bottles at Hodgkinson & Co's drug store.

Don't Trifle with any Throat

Training Young Trotters.

Kentucky Live Stock Record.]

Hardly ten years have elapsed since most of the stock journals were filled with articles against training and handling young trotters, now they are filled with yearlings, two, three, four and five-year-olds.

We have always advocated and contended that early handling and training is beneficial, as it develops the form, size and action, and brings the youngsters to maturity much earlier. It is the excess of training, and not the training itself, where the injury arises. A few races does not hurt the youngster, but is the lengthened preparation for a fast performance and the desire of many drivers to see the colt go faster with each move.

We do not approve of excessive driving of young trotters, but there is a happy medium which most of the best handlers have adopted. A majority of the sensational young trotters in the last few years have improved their records with increase of age, which is the best proof that early training did them no perceptible injury, but was really beneficial.

INFANTILE

SKIN DISEASES

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a violent, malignant skin disease. The skin ordinary remedies failed.

We called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, bloody, and malodorous. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDY.

The effect was simply marvelous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedies saved his life, and today he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred.

THE NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION will meet in San Francisco the coming summer. This body will be composed of the leading educators of every state and without question will be one of the largest and most intelligent gatherings that have ever met in the metropolis of the coast. These visitors are coming to see and learn, and will have, if favorably impressed, a greater power to add to the future prosperity of the coast than almost any other class or profession who might come hither. The result of their observations will be carried to the school rooms, where it will be the common property of the young throughout our country. The word pictures of these devotees of learning will leave their impress, and by them many a youth will resolve to meet his fate in the far west, and will not forget the revolution 'till it is enforced. Hence it is that Nevada educators should, as they are doing, make the Association what it should be, to show their Eastern co-workers, that the school-master has been west of the Rocky Mountains. At these meetings it has been the custom to make large exhibits of practical school work. We have not the great cities that are to be found in the East, there are not the resources of members from which to draw as are found in the more thickly populated and older states, but there is the material, if gathered and formulated, to make a showing that may fall short in quantity but not in quality with that of other states.

Those who have the matter of Nevada's school exhibit in charge have issued a circular which will fall into the hands of every teacher in the state. If each school will contribute to the historical, school and cabinet exhibit, as is recommended in the circular, an authentic history will be written of the state, much valuable information will be gathered which can be utilized by the Bureau of Immigration, and a novel cabinet will be formed which will attract and provoke inquiry as to our numerous resources, and in time will bring capital to develop these resources. There is no school in this state that can afford to fail to be represented in some one of the exhibits. If not in all, and should any teacher be lukewarm in the effort to have his school represented he will be remiss in his duty.

A STRONG movement is gravely reported in the Scandinavian peninsula in favor of polygamy. The peasant women are said to be its chief supporters. There is very little inducement for young men to stay in that country, and those who can, are apt to strike out for the United States as soon as possible, where they do well for themselves and their adopted country. The girls they left behind them are evidently getting desperate. A better remedy for their trouble would be for them to follow the boys. There are thousands of American kitchens open to them, and they can find homes first and sweethearts afterward. The Territories are full of bachelor pioneers who want just such sturdy young women to keep house for them.

THE $1,000 property clause, said to be incorporated in the new Chinese Treaty, is a little hole which it is easy to make large enough to let in any number of Mongols. If Chinese testimony cannot be manufactured to show that every Coolie arriving here has a real personal estate in this country entitling him to land under the treaty, then the "heathen Chinee" will have forgotten some of his tricks. The few Chinamen who hold real estate in this country can either sell or stay by it. Personal property they can take with them if they want to go.

GERMANY IN MOURNING.

The Death of Emperor William Officially Announced.

LONDON, March 9.—Yesterday was a day of excitement in this city, on account of the dispatches received from Reuters and other news agencies announcing the death of the Emperor of Germany. These dispatches were contradicted every time, and when night came on there was a general feeling of uncertainty and dissatisfaction with the way the reports were sent out.

The German embassy was besieged by callers all the afternoon, anxious to learn the latest news from the German capital. No bulletins were posted, and the embassy received no official notification of the Emperor's death, and all the dispatches making such statement were received at other places.

The reason these false dispatches were sent and given such publicity was that the Emperor went off in a swoon about five o'clock in the afternoon and remained so for an hour. During this time he became very cold and his pulse was so faint that the physicians in attendance, as well as the relatives at the bedside, were deceived and thought that the end had come. In a short time the Berlin newspapers had out extras announcing the Emperor's death, and soon the telegraph wires were scattering the false report in all directions. The Kaiser, however, rallied about six o'clock, and at seven he was partaking of nourishment and speaking a few words to the watchers at his bedside. As soon as his death was announced in the evening a crowd began to assemble outside the palace, and it continued to swell in numbers until the streets were jammed with people. All was orderly and quiet, however, and when the people were informed that the report of the Emperor's death was premature, they refused to believe it, and declared that it was contradicted only to conceal the truth from the people.

The Emperor had been unconscious most of the time yesterday, and for several hours he lay in a comatose condition. All the members of the royal household were in attendance at the palace, except the Crown Prince. Prince Wilhelm was constantly at the bedside of his grandfather, and the other members of the family were near by. Before the night was over the Kaiser took leave of all present and spoke a few words to each. He was at this time conscious and realized his condition thoroughly, and insisted on saying what he wished to, as he knew that he only had a short time to live.

THE DYING SCENE.

Eye witnesses of the scenes at the death of the Emperor state that during the last few hours of his life he suffered no pain. Shortly after eight o'clock all the members of the family gathered at the palace, the court dignitaries, Generals and Ministers of State, were summoned to the chamber in which the Emperor was dying. The Emperor was in a half-sitting position on a camp bedstead. All the members of the royal family took their places at the bedside, and the room was crowded. Prince Wilhelm stood nearest the Emperor, half-bending over the couch. He earnestly watched the face of the dying monarch until he expired.

HE DIES A WARRIOR.

The Emperor died holding the Emperor's hand. He had been in a stupor since three o'clock. He was delirious for a brief period at five o'clock, during which he is reported to have exclaimed: "I am a man of peace, but if Russia forces me to war, I shall faithfully side with my ally, Austria."

EMPEROR FREDERICK III.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Emperor Frederick III was greatly disturbed on hearing the news of his father's death, but is now much more tranquil. He has received hundreds of telegrams of condolence. His wife received many ladies and gentlemen, who have been in Frederick's service, and who called to express their sympathy. The new Emperor and his wife will leave for Berlin to-morrow morning.

MITCHELL WEAKENS.

The British Blowhard Fails to Meet the Yankee Champion.

LONDON, March 10.—The Sullivan-Mitchell fight has been postponed on account of a squabble. It will probably take place on Monday.

It is stated that Sullivan was on the ground ready to go ahead with the fight, but Mitchell was not on time. The same information says that Mitchell's non-appearance is due to the fact that he was not in a condition to fight. He was very seasick in making the trip, and his face and hands are said to be chapped and blistered. He threw up no less than five times on the trip and is very weak from the result of it. Sullivan was ready and anxious to fight, and he and his friends construe Mitchell's failure to show up as another breakdown.

Aside from his sickness, if he really was sick, Mitchell had good cause to want a postponement. There was a big crowd of rough blackguards who went over to attend the fight and they were all in favor of Sullivan. Though among his own people Mitchell had few friends, he is unpopular here because he will not associate with the pugilist crowd, and Bull, who is Sullivan's friend, had a big corner against Mitchell. It is not likely that Sullivan needed any such help, but if it should have come that way, the mob was there to see Mitchell kicked.

ANOTHER REPORT.

AMEN, France, March 10.—Both Sullivan and Mitchell are here, but the gendarmes and English detectives are watching their movements closely. Plenty of wrangling has marked the proceedings so far, and the announcement that the fight was postponed caused no surprise. There seems to be a general feeling that a quibble will come and there will be no fight at all. Sullivan's friends say that Mitchell is in a wretched condition and would stand no show.

THE STRIKE.

It Still Spreads and Affects Other Railroads.

ST. PAUL, March 10.—President Fisher, of the St. Paul & Duluth Railroad, notified the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that his road would handle C. B. & Q. and Burlington & Northern cars. The St. Paul & Duluth engineers say the men on that road will strike within twenty-four hours.

THE PANHANDLE THREATENED.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The relations between the Panhandle Railroad Company and engineers are greatly strained by complications due to the Burlington strike, and a meeting of the men's Grievance Committee was convened this afternoon to decide the advisability of declaring a strike on the Panhandle.

ANOTHER ROAD INVOLVED.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 10.—The St. Paul & Duluth road has decided to handle the Burlington freight, and a strike by the engine men is reported imminent at Paul.

Investigating the Central Pacific.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Having disposed of the case of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, the House Committee on Pacific Railroads to-day began to consider the method of treating the Central Pacific Railroad Company. The proceedings were informal, no specific bill being before the committee, and the expressions of opinion were not pronounced enough to indicate the feelings of the members towards the company. Ex-Senator McDonald, counsel for the Central Pacific, will be given a chance to address the committee next Friday upon Central Pacific affairs.

Sandbagged and Robbed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—William Reiter, waiter in a restaurant, went to the Receiving Hospital this morning, suffering with severe bruises on the head. He stated that he was approached by four men near Market street early last evening and struck with a sandbag. He was rendered unconscious and knew nothing more until about three o'clock this morning when he found himself at the Reiter and that $30 and most of his clothing were missing.

remains mild and laborious, like his sire; he is brought up, like him, in the midst of the family, and, like him, he possesses in a very high degree, the faculty of easy acclimation. He acquires this in the midst of the numerous migrations he accomplishes in Perche, the counterpart of those that the type horse makes upon the sands of the desert. A final comparison, which has not as yet been sufficiently noticed, is that, like the Arab, he has no need of being mutilated in order to be trained, managed and kept without danger. In a word, the Percheron, notwithstanding the ages which separate them, presents an affinity as close as possible with the primitive horse, which is the Arab.—Charles du Hays.
